MATH 171 HOMEWORK REWRITES

DAGAN KARP

Like other writing, good math writing is a process that includes revision. In Math 171 this is reflected in the rewrite policy. You will have the opportunity to turn in a rewritten copy of every homework assignment.

(1) Rewrites will be due at the same time as normal homework, two weeks after the original due date. Graded homework will be returned within a week, so you will have one week to complete each rewrite.
(2) Only problems or parts of problems that were attempted in the original homework may be rewritten. No credit will be given for problems initally left blank.
(3) When you turn in your rewrites, please attach the original graded homework, along with your revised copy.
(4) Mark the changes you make in the new copy. This may be done with a highlighter, a different font, or any other method that makes it clear where changes from the original have been made.
(5) Feel free to turn in rewrites of some problems but not others. If a problem has not been rewritten it does not need to be returned in.
